

成人高等教育学士学位英语考试

全真模拟试卷(五)

(考试时间 120 分钟)

Part I Dialogue Completion (10 points)

Directions: In this part, there are 3 dialogues with 3 or 4 blanks, each followed by 4 choices marked A, B, C and D. Fill in each blank with the choice that best suits the situation until the dialogue is complete. With Dialogue One, all the choices will have to be used. With Dialogue Two and Dialogue Three, one choice will be left unused. Mark your answer on the ANSWER SHEET with a single bar through the centre of the letter that indicates your choice.

Dialogue One

Speaker A: Good evening, sir and madam.

Speaker B: Good evening. 1

Speaker A: Let me check the list. Yes, we do have a reservation under Mr. Stephen.

Speaker B: 2 There are six of us. Four of my friends are coming soon.

Speaker A: It doesn't matter. Follow me, please. What do you think of the table in the centre of the dining room?

Speaker B: But 3

Speaker A: I'm sorry, but you see, all the tables by the window are small, with up to four seats.

Speaker B: Oh, I see. We'll have to make up with the centre one.

Speaker A: Thank you for your understanding, Mr. Stephen.

Speaker B: If a Mr. Sun comes to look for me, 4

Speaker A: Yes, I will.

A. it's a window table that we've booked.

B. just usher him here.

C. We've a reservation for a table for two under the name of Stephen.

D. But there is a change in the number of people.

Dialogue Two

Speaker A: Good morning, sir. Can I help you?

Speaker B: Yes, I'm leaving today. Can I have my bill settled?

Speaker A: Of course, sir. May I have your name?

Speaker B: My name is Peter Brown and my room number is 556.

Speaker A: Just a second, please. Mr. Brown, 5 Please check.

Speaker B: I'm sorry. I suppose there is a mistake indeed. I only stayed here for three nights, not four.

Speaker A: Just a second, please. I'll check it...I am sorry, Mr. Brown, 6 So the fee in total should be $ 155.

Speaker B: Now you are right. Could I pay with credit card?

Speaker A: What kind of card do you have?

Speaker B: Visa.

Speaker A: 7 ...OK, here is your bill and receipt. Thank you, sir. Hope you have enjoyed your stay at our hotel.

Speaker B: Certainly I have. Thank you.

Speaker A: You're welcome. Goodbye.

A. That's acceptable.

B. here is your bill.

C. this is a miscalculation.

D. How do you pay for the bill?

Dialogue Three

Speaker A: Hello. Can I be of service to you?

Speaker B: I'm just window shopping.

Speaker A: You are always welcome. 8

Speaker B: They look very interesting, especially the yellow gowns.

Speaker A: They are imperial gowns. Ancient Chinese Emperors wear them. Yellow is a noble color to Chinese people. The imperial laws forbade the ordinary people to wear yellow.

Speaker B: Did they? But 9

Speaker A: Cultures differ from country to country. Why not try them on?

Speaker B: How much should I pay you for trying it on?

Speaker A: Free of charge.

Speaker B: That's fine. Is this yellow too bright for me?

Speaker A: It's a very bright yellow, but it looks terrific on you.

Speaker B: Does it? What size is it?

Speaker A: It's size 8.

Speaker B: But I wear size 10.

Speaker A: Here is another gown. It's size 10. Try it on. 10 Why not take one as a souvenir? It's cheap. Only 100 Yuan.

Speaker B: That's a good idea. I'll take it.

A. You look so smart in the imperial gown.

B. Do you want to try any other size again?

C. We sell all kinds of things used in ancient Chinese Imperial Palaces.

D. in my country purple is associated with being noble.

Part II Reading Comprehension (40 points)

Directions: There are 4 passages in this part. Each passage is followed by 5 questions or unfinished statements. For each of them there are 4 choices marked A, B, C and D. Choose the best one and mark your answer on the ANSWER SHEET with a single bar through the centre of the letter that indicates your choice.

Passage 1

We all know that it is possible for ordinary people to make their homes on the equator (赤道), although often they may feel uncomfortably hot there. Millions do it. But as for the North Pole (北极)——we know that it is not only a dangerously cold place, but that people like you and I would find it quite impossible to live there. At the present time only the scientists and explorers can do so, and they use special equipment. Men have been travelling across and around the equator on wheels, on their feet or in ships for thousands of years; but only a few men, with great difficulty and in very recent time, have ever crossed the ice to the North Pole. So it may surprise you to learn that, when traveling by air, it is really safer to fly over the North Pole than over the equator. Of course, it is not true about landings in the polar region, but the weather, if we are flying at a height of 5,000 meters above the Pole is a delight. At 4,000 meters and move above the earth you can always be sure that you will not see a cloud in the sky as far as your eyes can reach. In the tropics (热带), on the other hand, you are not certain to keep clear of bad weather even at such heights as 18,000 or 20,000 meters.

Aeroplanes can't climb as high or as quickly in cold air as in warm. Nor can clouds. In practice, this is an advantage to the aeroplane, which is already at a good height when it reaches the polar region and so does not to climb, while at the same time cold air keeps the clouds down low.

11. "Millions do it." in this sentence "do it" refers to _____.
A. feeling uncomfortably hot on the equator B. flying over the North Pole
C. flying over the equator D. making homes on the equator
12. The polar region is _____.
A. a good place to land at by aeroplane B. a good place to fly over
C. a good place to fly past D. a good place to live in 13. It is a delight to fly at the Pole because there _____.
A. planes fly higher than at the equator B. the eyes can reach about 4,000 meters
C. planes are clear of bad weather D. planes fly more quickly than at the equator
14. Aeroplanes can climb quickly _____.
A. in warm air B. in cold air
C. when it reaches the polar region D. only when the clouds are down low
15. Aeroplanes usually do not need to climb quickly or fly high in the polar region because _____.
A. they do not land there B. there are no clouds at all
C. they can cross the ice with special equipment D. it is very cold

Passage 2

Trees are useful to man in three important ways: they provide him with wood and other products; they give him shade; and they help to prevent droughts and floods.

Unfortunately, in many parts of the world, man has not realized that the third of these services is the most important. In his eagerness to make money from trees, he has cut them down in large numbers, only to find that without them he has lost the best friends he had. And besides, he is usually too careless to plant and look after new trees. So the forests slowly disappear.

This does not only mean that man will have fewer trees. The results are even more serious; for where there are trees, their roots break up soil—allowing the rain to sink in—and also bind the soil, thus preventing it from being washed away easily; but where there are no trees, the rain falls on hard ground and flows away, causing floods and carrying away the rich top-soil. When all the top-soil is gone, nothing remains but worthless desert.

Two thousand years ago a rich and powerful country cut down its trees to build warships, with which to gain itself an empire. It set up the empire but, without its trees, its soil became poor and it grew weak. When the empire fell to pieces, the home country found itself faced with floods and starvation.

16. What is the most important service of trees to man according to the passage?
A. They help him make money.
B. They give him wood and other products.
C. They help him prevent droughts and floods.
D. They give him shade.
17. Why do forests in many parts of the world slowly disappear?
A. New trees are not looked after properly.
B. Many trees have been cut down by man.
C. Man has not paid enough attention to planting trees.
D. All of the above.
18. Why did the country mentioned in the passage suffer from floods and starvation?
A. Because an empire was set up.
B. Because the empire fell to pieces.
C. Because it lost its trees.
D. Because too much had been spent on wars.
19. Why does land become desert after all trees are cut down?
A. Because nothing remains on land except floods.
B. Because there are no longer trees to keep the rain and protect the top-soil.
C. Because too much rain sinks in and washes away the top-soil.
D. Because roots of the trees break up the soil.
20. What does the author tell us in this passage?
A. How trees help prevent droughts and floods.
B. The relationship between trees and man.
C. How an empire fell to pieces in ancient times.
D. A story of trees.

Passage 3

Not all memories are sweet. Some people spend all their lives trying to forget bad experiences. Violence and traffic accidents can leave people with terrible physical and emotional scars. Often they relive these experiences in nightmares (噩梦).

Now American researchers think they are close to developing a pill, which will help people forget bad memories. The pill is designed to be taken immediately after a frightening experience. They hope it might reduce, or possibly erase (抹去), the effect of painful memories.

In November, experts tested a drug on people in the US and France. The drug stops the body releasing chemicals that fix memories in the brain. So far the research has suggested that only the emotional effects of memories may be reduced, not that the memories are erased.

The research has caused a great deal of argument. Some think it is a bad idea, while others support it.

Supporters say it could lead to pills that prevent or treat soldiers' troubling memories after war. They say that there are many people who suffer from terrible memories.

"Some memories can ruin people's lives. They come back to you when you don't want to have them in a daydream or nightmare. They usually come with very painful emotions." said Roger Pitman, a professor of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School. "This could relieve a lot of that suffering."

But those who are against the research say that it is very dangerous to change memories because memories give us our identity(物质). They also help us all avoid the mistakes of the past.

"All of us can think of bad events in our lives that were horrible at the time but make us who we are. I'm not sure we want to wipe those memories out," said Rebecca Dresser, a medical ethicist.

21. The passage is mainly about _____.
A. a new medical invention
B. a new research on memories
C. a way of erasing painful memories
D. an argument about the research on the pill
22. The drug tested on people can _____.
A. cause the brain to fix memories
B. stop people remembering their experiences
C. prevent body producing certain chemicals
D. wipe out the emotional effects of memories
23. We can infer from the passage that _____.
A. people doubt the effects of the pills
B. the pill will stop people's bad experiences
C. taking the pill will do harm to people's health
D. the pill has probably been produced in America
24. Which of the following does Rebecca Dresser agree with?
A. Some memories can ruin people's lives.
B. People want to get rid of bad memories.
C. Experiencing bad events makes us different from others.
D. The pill will reduce people's sufferings from bad memories.
25. The word "scars" in paragraph 1 is close in meaning to _____.
A. good stories
B. pains
C. experiences
D. memories

Passage 4

If there is one thing I'm sure about, it is that in a hundred years from now we will still be reading newspapers. It is not that newspapers are a necessity. Even now some people get most of their news from television or radio. Many buy a paper only on Saturday or Sunday. But for most people reading newspaper has become a habit passed down from generation to generation.

The nature of what is news may change. What basically makes news is what news is what affects our lives—the big political stories, the coverage of the wars, earthquakes and other disasters, will continue much the same. I think there will be more coverage of scientific research, though. It's already happening in areas that may directly affect our lives, like genetic engineering. In the future, I think there will be more coverage of scientific explanations of why we feel as we do—as we develop a better understanding of how the brain operates and what our feeling really are.

It's quite possible that in the next century newspapers will be transmitted(传送)electronically from Fleet Street and printed out in our own home. In fact, I'm pretty sure that how it will happen in the future. You will probably be able to choose from a menu, making up your own newspaper by picking out the things you want to read—sports and international news, etc.

I think people have got it wrong when they talk about competition between the different media. They actually feed off each other. Some people once foresaw that television would kill off newspapers, but that hasn't happened. What is read on the printed page lasts longer than pictures on a screen or sound lost in the air. And as for the Internet, it's never really pleasant to read something just on a screen.

26. What is the best title for the passage?
A. The Best Way to Get News
B. The Changes of Media
C. Make Your Own Newspaper
D. The Future of Newspaper
27. In the writer's opinion, in the future, _____.
A. more big political affairs, wars and disasters will make news
B. newspapers will not be printed in publishing houses any longer
C. newspapers will cover more scientific research
D. more and more people will watch TV
28. What will probably be in the newspaper made by yourself?
A. Sports and international news.
B. A menu of important news.
C. The most important news.
D. What you are interested in.
29. From the passage, we can infer _____.
A. newspapers will win the competition among the different media
B. newspapers will stay with us together with other media
C. television will take the place of newspaper
D. the writer believe some media will die out
30. The underlined phrase "feed off" in the last paragraph means _____.
A. depend on
B. compete with
C. fight with
D. kill off

Part III Vocabulary and Structure (20 points)

Directions: There are 20 incomplete sentences in this section. For each sentence there are four choices marked A, B, C and D. Choose the ONE answer that best completes the sentence. Mark your answer on the ANSWER SHEET with a single bar through the centre of the letter that indicates your choice.

31. I _____ talk that way if I were Frank.
A. won't
B. didn't
C. couldn't
D. wouldn't
32. _____ today, he would get there by Friday.
A. Were he leave
B. Was he leaving
C. Were he to leave
D. If he leaves
33. I can't speak Japanese, but I do wish I _____.
A. can
B. could
C. had
D. spoke
34. I'd rather you _____ anything about this matter this evening.
A. say
B. didn't say
C. don't say
D. not say

35. Wood does not conduct electricity, _____.
 A. nor rubber does B. nor does rubber C. also doesn't rubber D. so doesn't rubber
36. Not only _____ be interesting to us, but also its language will help us in composition.
 A. the novel will B. will the novel C. is the novel D. the novel is
37. Your comments _____ my work have proved to be helpful.
 A. in B. for C. on D. against
38. When she does something, Mrs. Brown feels that her little child is always _____.
 A. under way B. in the way C. on the way D. by the way
39. Shortly after the accident, two _____ policemen came to the spot.
 A. dozen of B. dozens C. dozen D. dozens of
40. It's really kind _____.
 A. of you to say so B. for you to say so C. of you saying so D. for you saying so
41. She could only see the _____ of the trees.
 A. outline B. general C. edge D. outlook
42. I can't tell the _____ difference between the twin sisters.
 A. slight B. simple C. slender D. single
43. This is a nice car, but we cannot _____ it.
 A. provide B. afford C. supply D. manage
44. The meeting will begin at 9:00 according to the _____.
 A. calendar B. column C. schedule D. diagram
45. The company is small but promising. _____, I'll take the job.
 A. In some cases B. In that case C. In case D. In any case
46. The notice was written in several languages _____ foreign tourists should misunderstand it.
 A. so that B. if C. lest D. otherwise
47. One car went too fast and _____ missed hitting another car.
 A. completely B. greatly C. narrowly D. little
48. We substitute fish _____ meat several times a week.
 A. for B. to C. with D. and

49. Tony is very disappointed _____ the results of the exam.
 A. for B. toward C. on D. with
50. To make up an objective test, the teacher writes a series of questions, _____ has only one correct answer.
 A. some of which B. which C. each of which D. that

Part IV Translation (15 points)

Directions: Translate the following passage into Chinese and put your translation on the ANSWER SHEET.

Throughout the world, for more than a century, artists have embraced jazz. They have adopted its spontaneity and its freedom of expression. Jazz is so much more than music; it is a lifestyle and a tool for dialogue, even social change. The history of jazz tells of the power of music to bring together artists from different cultures and backgrounds, as a driver of integration and mutual respect. Jazz gave rhythm to the struggles of the civil rights movement in the United States, and has done so elsewhere in the world. Through jazz, millions of people have sung and still sing today their desire for freedom, tolerance and human dignity.

Part V Writing (15 points)

Directions: For this part, you are allowed 30 minutes to write a composition on the topic "Reading Selectively or Extensively". You should write in no less than 100 words, and base your composition on the outline given in Chinese below:

1. 有人认为读书要有选择;
2. 有人认为应当博览群书;
3. 我的看法。